New group

Groups allow you to manage and collaborate across multiple projects. Members of a group have access to all of its projects.

Groups can also be nested by creating subgroups.

Projects that belong to a group are prefixed with the group namespace. Existing projects may be moved into a group.

New project

A project is where you house your files (repository), plan your work (issues), and publish your documentation (wiki), among other things.

All features are enabled for blank projects, from templates, or when importing, but you can disable them afterward in the project settings.

Information about additional Pages templates and how to install them can be found in our Pages getting started guide.

Tip: You can also create a project from the command line. Show command

Blank project	Create from template	Import project
Project name <input type="text" value="My awesome project"/>
Project URL <input type="text" value="https://gitlab.eduxij.net/"/> <input type="text" value="nku2021-teda"/>		Project slug <input type="text" value="my-awesome-project"/>
Want to house several dependent projects under the same namespace? Create a group .
Project description (optional) Description format
Visibility Level ⓘ <input checked="" type="radio"/>  Private Project access must be granted explicitly to each user. If this project is part of a group, access will be granted to members of the group.
<input type="checkbox"/> Initialize repository with a README Allows you to immediately clone this project's repository. Skip this if you plan to push up an existing repository.
